This is NOT a Mickey Mouse start up company. You have ...

The #1 Nutritional Products company ... in the WORLD.

The FIRST GREEN COMPANY IN THE USA (1959), and the only American company to receive the coveted United Nations Environmental Award.

The #2 Prestige Cosmetics company ... in the WORLD.

The #2 Energy Drink ... in the USA.

The ONLY business/consumer gift and incentive program in the USA ... since 1973.

The ONLY household brand water purification system that can claim to be the “world’s best source of water”.

One, of only three, Waterless Cookware companies ... in the WORLD.
And many more.

Mickey Mouse, or rather the Disney Store, was one of the original start up companies.

How it WORKS with You + 3 Others

The only risk is comparable to buying a Costco card and not using it.

Examples only, there are no required product quotas, no limits on how many customers you register, nor how many other people you register, nor how many people they register. Each person is paid according to a Federal Trade Commission approved formula.

*All references to income, profit, and tax advantages are for illustration only and are not guarantees. Actual tax advantages vary widely.

Ask about listening to free tax training audios and reading free IRS bulletins or pay to consult your tax advisor who listens to audios and read IRS bulletins.

Recommended start up costs

A cartoon illustration on a blue background. A person is shown falling backwards from a brown desk. Another person is sitting on the desk, looking down at the falling person. A speech bubble from the falling person says, "That's about what I pay for a pair of athletic shoes!"

"That's about what I pay for a pair of athletic shoes!"

Introductory product samples, while optional, are highly recommended. The $135.00 recommended start up cost includes $75.00 worth of sample products from an assortment of product lines.

Note: All expenses necessary to run a business are legal tax deductions, such as: start up costs and sample products PLUS typical employee expenses like cars, cell phones, computers, internet access, etc. A typical middle income family typically has from $10K to $20K of annual expenses that can be converted to annual business expenses. Ask to see the IRS bulletins for examples of deductions and listen to free training audios from a former IRS agent.

Is it working?

Wal-Mart took 12 years to reach $100 million in annual sales and paid modest dividends ... not 30%.

Amazon.com took 4 years to reach $100 million in annual sales and paid modest dividends ... not 30%.

In the FIRST 100 DAYS this business co-op reached $100 million in sales ... of which $30 million (30%) was paid back in monthly profit sharing checks to people ... just like you.

Note: In 2008, 8.2 Billion dollars of product volume moved through this co-op ... increasing sales by 15% in the midst of the recession ... AND ... returning 30% in profits to people just like you ... How much did you get?
